

NORTH CAROLINA BRIBE IS A BRIBE ACT

Model State Legislation

Section 1. Findings and Purpose

The General Assembly finds that:

- (a) Corruption affecting state residents, state funds, or state governmental processes causes direct and substantial harm to the people of this state.
- (b) The state possesses inherent authority to prosecute crimes committed within its borders or affecting its residents.
- (c) Federal enforcement of anti-corruption laws has proven inadequate to protect state residents from corrupt conduct, and federal courts have systematically narrowed the scope of federal anti-corruption statutes.
- (d) The state has a compelling interest in maintaining public integrity and ensuring that government serves the people rather than private interests.
- (e) Corruption, bribery, self-dealing, and the acceptance of gratuities for official conduct can never constitute conduct necessary and proper to any official duty, regardless of who employs the official.
- (f) As a sovereign, this state has independent authority to define and prosecute crimes against its peace and dignity, and this authority exists concurrently with federal authority.

The purpose of this Act is to establish comprehensive state authority to investigate and prosecute corrupt conduct affecting the people of this state.

Section 2. Definitions

- (a) "Covered conduct" means:
 - (1) Bribery: soliciting, accepting, offering, or providing anything of value to or from any person in exchange for, because of, or with intent to influence any official action, decision, or exercise of discretion.
 - (2) Gratuities: soliciting, accepting, offering, or providing anything of value to or from any person as a reward for any official action, decision, or exercise of discretion, whether such action occurred before or after the thing of value is promised, offered, or given.
 - (3) Theft of public funds: obtaining, retaining, or misapplying money or property belonging to any governmental entity, whether federal, state, or local, when such conduct occurs within or from this state or affects residents of this state.
 - (4) Fraud against state residents: making false statements, representations, or omissions in connection with any governmental program, contract, or proceeding that affects residents of this state.

(5) Self-dealing: taking official action or making official decisions that provide financial benefit to oneself, one's family members, or one's business associates, without full public disclosure and approval.

(6) Abuse of public office: using the power, resources, or influence of public office for private gain or to confer an unwarranted benefit, regardless of whether a specific agreement or exchange is proven.

(7) Extortion under color of office: obtaining anything of value from any person through the wrongful use of actual or threatened official action.

(8) Obstruction: destroying, concealing, or falsifying evidence, or intimidating witnesses, in connection with any investigation or proceeding under this Act.

(b) "Anything of value" includes money, property, services, employment, business opportunities, favorable treatment, promises of future benefit, access, introductions, and any other tangible or intangible benefit, regardless of the form in which it is conferred.

(c) "Official action" means any decision, action, inaction, vote, opinion, recommendation, approval, disapproval, or exercise of discretion in relation to any matter within the official's jurisdiction, including the setting up of meetings, making introductions, providing access, hosting events, communicating with other officials, or any use of official position to advance any interest.

(d) "Person" means any natural person, regardless of office, title, employment status, or governmental affiliation. A person's status as a federal official or employee does not exempt that person from this Act.

(e) "Public official" means any person holding any office, position, employment, or agency relationship with any governmental entity, whether federal, state, or local, elected or appointed, compensated or uncompensated.

Section 3. Jurisdiction

(a) This state has jurisdiction over covered conduct when:

(1) The conduct occurs in whole or in part within or from this state; or

(2) The conduct produces or is intended to produce effects within this state; or

(3) The victim of the conduct is a resident of this state or an entity organized under the laws of this state; or

(4) The proceeds of the conduct are located within this state; or

(5) The person who engaged in the conduct resides in this state, maintains an office in this state, or conducts business within this state.

(b) Jurisdiction under this Act exists regardless of:

(1) The office or position held by the person who engaged in the covered conduct;

(2) The governmental entity, if any, that employs or employed such person;

(3) Whether the conduct is also subject to prosecution under federal law or the laws of another state;

- (4) Any claim of immunity based on federal employment or office.
- (c) Corruption, bribery, acceptance of gratuities, self-dealing, abuse of public office, and the other conduct covered by this Act can never, as a matter of law, constitute conduct necessary and proper to any official duty. No person may claim immunity from prosecution under this Act on the ground that covered conduct was performed in the course of official duties.

Section 4. Investigative Authority

- (a) The Attorney General has exclusive authority to investigate covered conduct under this Act.
- (b) Before filing any charges, the Attorney General may:
 - (1) Issue subpoenas compelling the production of documents, records, communications, financial statements, and other materials relevant to an investigation, without prior judicial approval;
 - (2) Issue civil investigative demands requiring any person to answer interrogatories under oath;
 - (3) Compel testimony from any person with information relevant to an investigation;
 - (4) Petition any court of competent jurisdiction for orders enforcing compliance with subpoenas, civil investigative demands, or testimony requirements;
 - (5) Enter into agreements with witnesses providing immunity or other consideration in exchange for cooperation;
 - (6) Convene or request the convening of a grand jury;
 - (7) Apply for authorization to conduct wiretaps and electronic surveillance in accordance with state law.
- (c) Investigations under this Act may be conducted confidentially. Any person who discloses the existence or substance of a confidential investigation, other than as required by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.
- (d) No person may refuse to comply with a subpoena, civil investigative demand, or testimony requirement issued under this Act on the basis of any privilege other than the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination.
- (e) The Attorney General may coordinate with law enforcement agencies of this state and other states in conducting investigations under this Act.

Section 5. Prima Facie Proof

- (a) If any person, having been served with a subpoena, civil investigative demand, or order to testify issued under this Act:
 - (1) Refuses to attend or be sworn; or
 - (2) Refuses to answer any material question; or

- (3) Refuses to produce any document, record, or material described in the subpoena or demand;

Such refusal shall constitute prima facie proof that the person has engaged in covered conduct, and the burden shall shift to such person to prove that no covered conduct occurred.

- (b) This section applies in both civil and criminal proceedings under this Act.

Section 6. Criminal Enforcement

(a) Civil enforcement and misdemeanors. Any person who engages in covered conduct is liable for civil penalties and, where the conduct constitutes a misdemeanor under this section, criminal penalties. Proof of specific intent to engage in corruption is not required for civil enforcement or misdemeanor prosecution. It is sufficient to prove that:

(a) This section effects a partial assignment by the state of its claims for civil penalties and damages under this Act. Any resident of this state may bring a civil action under this Act on behalf of the state as a partial assignee of the state's claim. A person bringing such action does not thereby become an officer, employee, or agent of the state.

(b) Before filing a civil action under this section, the person must:

- (1) Submit a written complaint to the Attorney General, under seal, describing the covered conduct and providing all supporting evidence in the person's possession;
- (2) Serve a copy of the complaint and evidence on the Attorney General;
- (3) Wait one hundred twenty days from the date of submission before serving the complaint on the defendant, unless the Attorney General consents to earlier service.

(c) The complaint shall remain under seal for one hundred twenty days, during which time the Attorney General shall investigate the allegations.

(d) Within one hundred twenty days, or any extension granted by the court, the Attorney General shall notify the court and the person whether the Attorney General will:

 - (3) During any period when the person who engaged in covered conduct is absent from this state;
 - (4) During the pendency of any criminal prosecution of the person for conduct arising from the same transaction or occurrence.

Section 11. Non-Deferral

- (a) The Attorney General's authority to investigate and prosecute covered conduct under this Act is independent and exclusive within this state.
- (b) The pendency of any federal investigation or prosecution does not divest the Attorney General of authority under this Act, stay any proceeding under this Act, or require the Attorney General to defer action.
- (c) No provision of this Act shall be construed to require or authorize the Attorney General to defer to, coordinate with, or transfer jurisdiction to any federal agency or official.
- (d) A federal pardon or commutation does not bar prosecution under this Act, affect any conviction under this Act, or require release of any person imprisoned under this Act.

Section 12. Removal to Federal Court

- (a) If any prosecution under this Act is removed to federal court, the Attorney General shall oppose removal and seek remand to state court.
- (b) It is the finding of the General Assembly that covered conduct under this Act can never constitute conduct necessary and proper to any federal duty, and therefore federal officer removal jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1442 does not apply to prosecutions under this Act.

Section 13. Public Integrity Unit

- (a) There is established within the Office of the Attorney General a Public Integrity Unit.
- (b) The Public Integrity Unit shall have primary responsibility for:

Section 14. Severability

If any provision of this Act, or the application of any provision to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application. To this end, the provisions of this Act are severable.

Section 15. Savings Clause

- (a) Nothing in this Act limits any other state or federal remedy, civil or criminal, that may be available for covered conduct.
- (b) Nothing in this Act shall be construed to regulate the operations of the federal government. This Act addresses only the criminal and civil liability of individual persons for covered conduct.
- (c) All existing state criminal laws applicable to the conduct covered by this Act remain in full force and effect, and the Attorney General may prosecute any person for violation of such laws in addition to or instead of prosecution under this Act.

Section 16. Effective Date

This Act takes effect immediately upon ratification.

Section 17. Conflict of Interest and Special Prosecutor
